Sorry, I thought Steph was saying she was going to cancel it. It's done; I don't know if it shows up as canceled right away or if it has to run with a batch at the end of the day. Either way, I think we've got it handled now.

Ed,

Stephanie said that she asked you to cancel this requisition. It is still showing up in the account as an amount encumbered and the system won't let me cancel or zero out the line. Is there something else we need to do to close out this order and return the funds to the original account?

Thanks,
Tricia
