Briefly explain what you believe are the three most important issues facing the Youth Advisory Board, and how do you believe the board or commission should address each issue?

- 1) Lately, the Ft Collins museum has had some awesome exhibits, but not alot of teens know about them, or their local history. The museum should publisize more and also include fun activities to interest kids in the local history.
- 2) Youths should be focusing on books rather than television, so why not have more programs at the library for older kids. There could be book discussion groups and book summary contests, giving kids chances to discuss books with other kids their age also giving kids a motivation think deeper into their readings with prizes.
- 3) Kids should have fun and hangout, rather than doing drugs. That's why the city park pool is such a great place to hangout with friends and play in the water, but the hours are absurd. The hours should be lengthened so that kids can spend more, there, and less time getting into trouble.

Briefly explain what you believe are the three most important issues facing the Youth Advisory Board, and how do you believe the board or commission should address each issue?

- 1) Transportation is the biggest issue there is for Ft. Collins' teens. If more teens had/were provided transportation (public), they could volunteer more & commit^{to} more events, their friends, etc. If more buses, public vans, etc. could transport teens to places in Ft. Collins, they would be happier & safer.
- 2) Teens in Ft. Collins do not have many places to "hang-out" in. Because of this, they go to underage clubs, do drugs, and more. If we had more Youth Activity Centers (catered more towards teens), the teens would be safer; parents could be able to do more because they would not have to worry about where their teenagers were.
- 3) With the little diversity that Ft. Collins has, diversity should be incorporated into every teen's life. If we had an African-American museum, multi-cultural teen board, etc., in Ft. Collins, the teens would be more cultured and more prepared for the "real world."

List any abilities, skills, licenses, certificates, specialized training, or interests you have which are applicable to this board:

Briefly explain what you believe are the three most important issues facing the Youth Advisory Board, and how do you believe the board or commission should address each issue?

1) There needs to be bigger effort in trying to get youths involved in the community. This can be
s to participate in the world around them. For example setting up programs such as having young people act as big brothers or sisters to less fortunate children. Or. having a program where youths can come together and clean up a park or help the elderly. These programs need to be more available and accessible to youths.

2) Fort Collins needs more programs including youth. We need programs designed to encourage youths to participate in the world around them. For example setting up programs such as having young people act as big brothers or sisters to less fortunate children. Or. having a program where youths can come together and clean up a park or help the elderly. These programs need to be more available and accessible to youths.

3) Fort Collins needs to make a bigger effort on conveying to young people. the importance of not
s to participate in the world around them. For example setting up programs such as having young people act as big brothers or sisters to less fortunate children. Or. having a program where youths can come together and clean up a park or help the elderly. These programs need to be more available and accessible to youths.

List any abilities, skills, licenses, certificates, specialized training, or interests you have which are applicable to this board:

I am a youth myself therefore i understand what needs to be provided in order to create a working community where youths can be active and supported. I have interests in volunteering, and helping the community. all of which i believe to be applicable to this board.
